Hello, I am Lee Hak-do, CEO of SEAWORLD.

With sales in 2022 at around KRW 11 billion, SEAWORLD recorded high growth it achieved 150% of its 2020 sales!

This is all thanks to the efforts from our employees and our quality products. Without them, we wouldn't be able to succeed in a global market made uncertain due to the COVID-19 pandemic.

SEAWORLD has devoted itself to developing traditional Korean bugak into a variety of items tailored to modern trends and to producing delicious snacks with healthy root vegetables, seaweed, and marine products.

Furthermore, we have increased our production capacity and strengthened our price competitiveness through joint production between our Korean smart factory and our Vietnamese counterpart. As a result, we have been able to increase the number of chain stores from 20 to 30 and launch our products at large shopping centers, even during the pandemic! We are also publicizing our bugak products to multiple customer bases online, including at online shopping malls, and through exports.

Our Tigaktegak bugak stems from a small six-pyeong store (19.8m²) in the Sokcho central market in 2009 where we started. Our initiative and technology drive our high year-to-year growth. We are endeavoring to develop many new products and maintain product quality by applying our raw ingredient expertise, performing exhaustive R&D efforts, and carrying out national support projects. This will strengthen our food manufacturing and technological capabilities.

These efforts have led us to exporting to 10 countries including China, Japan, and Australia, starting in 2018. We are also enhancing our competitiveness through FSSC22000 and other various certifications and contracts signed with large foreign distributors every year in efforts to become a true global food company.

SEAWORLD seeks to grow endlessly for the happiness of our employees and for the satisfaction of our customers. We aim to prioritize health, honesty, and trust.

So, stay tuned and be with us always.

Thank you.

Korea's first smart bugak manufacturing process

SEAWORLD has adopted the joint public-private smart factory business run by Samsung Electronics and the Ministry of SMEs and Startups to automate some manufacturing processes and to enable mass production and mass distribution of more uniform products.

SEAWORLD, certified by HACCP, FSSC22000, and ISO14001 as a traditional food trader, produces sanitary and reliable foods.

A company-affiliated research lab, key to SEAWORLD's growth capabilities

SEAWORLD has been working on R&D and quality development with an official company-affiliated research lab. We have conducted various R&D activities such as HACCP management, product quality control, and product development and improvement. As a result of this effort, we were chosen as a Global IP Star Company and we won intellectual property management certification.

We develop various products using root vegetables, seaweed, fruit, and marine products. Additionally, we further develop the globalization of our traditional food through continuous research in manufacturing technology.

Tigaktegak stems from the Sokcho central market and has become our signature bugak brand

Traditional Korean bugak contains the wisdom of our ancestors, who ate them out of season after storing them when they were in season. Bugak is made by starch coating various raw ingredients including agricultural and marine products such as seaweed, maturing them, and frying them for a short time using non-GMO corn oil. With less fat than other snacks and chips, bugak is crispy and keeps the flavors of its raw ingredients intact.
